From the Editor

Dear Comberton,

Well, this is it. My reign of terror as the editor of the Contact comes to an end. In under a month we'll be shipping on up to Leeds.

I've had a wonderful time playing this part for the village. Being the conduit for news, events and information has been a real pleasure and joy.

A big thank you to the team around me, Terry, Marian and her delivery elves. Terry deals with all the finances, administration, and advertising and Marian and her delivery elves are the reason that the magazines drop through your front door each month. Thank you so much.

Comberton has been a great home to us for the last three years. We're going to miss it so much.

Yours,

Chris

Gifts

May is the month of birthdays in my family. My sister, my dad, my mum, my nephew, and myself, all have birthdays. As I write this, we're stressing about what to buy my father. We can never think of anything creative that doesn't cost too much! I think we'll settle on a CD (again).

Buying gifts stresses me out. I usually want to get the 'perfect' one (as if such a thing existed) and worry that what we get won't be right and will be a waste. Gifts are socially complex things. We like to pretend they're simple, but they're caught up in this whole social nexus which often feels beyond me.

In the 1920s a French anthropologist / sociologist called Marcel Mauss wrote a famous text called The Gift. Studying various communities (particularly in Polynesia) that did not use money, Mauss developed his theory of gift-exchange. This states that no gift is really free.

Gifts bind people together and cement relationships. They also solidify status, position and power. And They always demand some kind of return.

His arm chair sociology has come in for some critique, but his intuition that gifts are more complex than they seem is surely spot on. Yet, I'm not sure Mauss' ideas capture everything.

Let us lighten your load

Amidst the present buying of the month of May, I've been thinking a lot about other kinds of gift that don't fit into this simple exchange. Gifts that are not things but are 'present' already and waiting to be discovered.

The gift our very breath, the gift of birdsong and buttercups and blossom. The gift of a passing conversation. The gift of friendship and love.

I've been trying to discover these presents as they lie there in the road waiting to be picked up.

Whatever life's circumstances, such gifts from beyond are there to be discovered.

Rev. David Newton

St Mary's Gift Day

On the same day as the Open Afternoon, we're inviting everyone from the village to consider making a gift to support the ongoing work of the church.

It costs over £4000 per month to run St Mary's and it is only through the generous support of individuals that the church continues to be able to offer pastoral care, services at key moments of life, and run projects like the Summer Hamper Scheme.

The church will be staffed from 10 – 4 and Gift Aid Envelopes will be available. Do consider popping by.

If you prefer, you can donate to the 'Friends of St Mary's' which will mean your donation will only be spent on the fabric.

As we are now entering the summer months, we are starting to make preparations once again for our highly anticipated Summer Reading Challenge for children, which will run throughout the school summer holidays.

We are delighted to announce that the theme for this year's Challenge is Space Chase, to coincide with the 50th Anniversary of the first moon landings.

The Challenge is for children to read six books during the school summer holidays, tell us about what they have been reading and collect stickers for their own collector's folder.

Posters and further information about the Challenge will be available in the library and registration begins on Saturday 13th July. Do bring your children along to find out more and sign up.

Alongside our Summer Reading Challenge sessions in the library, details of which will be available on registration, we will be holding some special activity sessions in the library for families.

All events will be advertised in the library and in the 'What's On in Cambridgeshire Libraries' brochure for the period July to September, available to pick up from the library from the beginning of July.

We would really struggle to run the Summer Reading Challenge without the help of our brilliant teenage volunteers.

If you are a teenager, who has helped in previous years, or would like to help for the first time this year, please do call into the library for further information. We will just need to ask your school or college for a reference before term ends, so the sooner you can contact us the better.

Comberton Friendship Club

Thursday April 11th Hilary Richie the Archivist at Addenbrooke's Hospital gave a very descriptive talk on it's history.

It was founded in 1766 on Trumpington Street, Cambridge with £4,500 from the will of Dr. John Addenbrooke, a fellow of St. Catharine's College Cambridge who died in 1719 with his wife passing away six months later.

The hospital was built to originally serve the poor people of Cambridge.

It opened on October 13th 1766 with 20 beds, Ann Perry being the first matron along with three Physicians.

Of course there is so much history, it celebrated it's 250th Anniversary three years ago. The present site opened at the end of Hills road in 1962, and has gone from strength to strength.

Our meeting on 9th May, unfortunately the speaker was unable to attend due to illness, so we amused ourselves with quizzes chit-chat and welcomed three new members.

Next meeting June 13th at 2.30pm will be our "Strawberry Tea". A raffle will be held.

Comberton Village Hall

The Wife

Starring: Glenn Close and Jonathan Pryce

Joan Castleman (Glenn Close) has spent forty years sacrificing her own talent, dreams and ambitions to support her charismatic husband Joe (Jonathan Pryce) and his stellar literary career. Ignoring infidelities and excuses made in the cause of his art, she has put up with his behaviour with undiminished grace and humour.

The foundations of their marriage have, however, been built upon a set of uneven compromises and Joan has reached a turning point. On the eve of Joe's Nobel Prize for Literature, the crown jewel rewarding a spectacular body of work, Joan will confront the biggest sacrifice of her life and some long-buried secrets.

From Meridian Primary School

We have had some really successful achievements amongst our children this term. Some of our children have had national, county wide and local achievements in writing, maths, music and sports.

We are delighted that much of our sporting and academic achievements have seen children enter into the next round of competitions.

May is always an intense time for our Y6 children who are sitting their SATs. We like to ensure we have a good balance during their testing week.

Our PTA works alongside the children to come up with a collection of fun activities for the children to do after their SATs. Our Y6's are in charge of calculating a budget for their activities and are set the task of growing funds, in many creative and innovative ways, to cover all their expanses.

We are looking forward to our upcoming summer music festival at the ending of May.

Many of our children enjoy learning to play an instrument whether in or out of school. Our festival celebrates individual achievement and it is an opportunity for children to perform a piece of music in front of an audience to continue to build their confidence.

Our school choir has joined with 'Village Voices' (local adult choir) to rehearse 'Captain Noah and His Floating Zoo'. We are very excited. The rehearsals are going well and their performance date is set for the 12th June!

Our mission in maths is to enable children to master their times tables. All classes have been set a challenge. The children are working on accuracy and speed. Good Luck!

If you are interested in becoming a governor and you are able to offer skills and services to enhance our school governance, please do get in touch with the chair of governors, Mr Peter Newton, chair@meridian.cambs.sch.uk. All school governors are subject to the necessary DBS checks.

Kind Regards,
Mrs C. Etchie
Headteacher

Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service

The old adage 'prevention is better than cure' stands the test of time and I'm sure that we do all that we can to adhere to this.

But, what if the unimaginable happens – a fire breaks out at home, or away?

Do we always read the important 'emergency exit' text – or even have such a plan at home?

Whether at home, school or work everyone should know what to do in the event of fire. If a fire occurs in your home you may have to get out under difficult conditions, and maybe in the dark.

Make it easier by having a prearranged plan – a 'what if' escape plan. Know your way out, agree it with the family and ensure that it is practicable. Also ensure that your planned route remains free of obstructions – it's surprising what you might forget in the 'heat' of the moment!

If mobility is an issue, consider a ground floor bedroom as near as possible to a suitable exit. Make sure that you have the means to summon help – a telephone or a buzzer.

Before going to bed please always check that:

- Fires are guarded (ideally extinguished)

- Smoking materials are extinguished – many fire have resulted from cigarette burns (hidden within the ash are often unburnt stems) on fabrics

- Electrical equipment is turned off – ideally unplugged too

- Any candles are extinguished (candles, and the resultant wax deposits on fabrics, are dangerous)

- Downstairs doors are closed to inhibit the spread of fire

- Keys to final exit doors are readily available and their location known by all.

Finally, my old 'chestnut' – Keep Testing those Smoke Alarms – your first line of defence and potential lifesavers (use a broom handle, rod or similar – better than tottering on stools, chairs boxes, etc)

For further information or help on any fire prevention matter, please contact:- www.cambsfire.gov.uk - 08009179994

Hidden within this Pulitzer quality item are several numbers. (Ignore any actual figures eg 40, 150 etc). When added together their total rather describes with my consumption of 15 packs of Bombay Mix per day. Please enter your total in the brackets at the end of the puzzle.

On every occasion that I stay in an hotel eventually, if I am not working, time passes very slowly. If I vent my frustration on the kitchen staff by not entertaining clients in their restaurant eventually I find my breath reeks of the Bombay Mix snacks (my favourite) from the rooms mini bar. Whenever possible I like to run in every marathon, wherever I am but went to hospital yesterday instead. Being a member of a group of radiologists I x-rayed myself as part of a regular check-up policy. Unfortunately I weigh twice what I should but not any members of our family has ever weighed less than 150 kilos! This is even true of our pets, have you ever seen a 40 kilo dachshund? We had a special trolley made to fit under his stomach! I must finish now as my hands , stiff if typing for too long , become unusable. My right hand, that went yesterday, is still causing me trouble. I would dearly love to weigh Tofts average of 70 but some of us can only dream. At the moment I am not able to exercise. Where is the Bombay Mix; and get that dachshund off my lap !!!!!!!

Your total ()

Entries please to Budgens, The Library or Green End Surgery no later than the 14th June. The prize of £10, generously donated by Budgens is to be spent in store.
